Headshot Pricelist

A little about myself, Terri Roper

Photography has always been a part of my life since I was a kid. Documenting moments and making a connection with the people I'm photographing is my passion. This reflects in my work which has been declared by the talent agencies I work with as "fresh and exciting".

I have been a photographing professionally for as long as I have been able - ever since I graduated from college with a degree in photography. Thru the years I have photographed many people, places and things, but my heart belongs to portrait photography. My ability to interact with the people I'm photographing gives me an understanding as to who they are and what they want portrayed from their photo session. This is what makes for great images.

About 15 years ago I started photographing for several theater companies, directors and actors. That lead me to working with talent agencies and the rest is history.

My goal when shooting headshots is to capture the essence and character of the person in front of the camera. Sometimes in one look, sometimes with many looks.

My sessions are enjoyable and easy-going, so you can have fun, be relaxed and let your personality come through.
